Who we are

Prestige Scaling provides invoice recovery and cash discipline services for businesses. This policy explains how we collect, use, store and protect personal data through our website and related enquiries.

What we collect

- Contact details you submit, such as your name, email address, phone number and company name.
- Messages, enquiry details and other information you choose to send to us.
- Basic technical and website usage information, such as IP address, browser type, pages visited and cookie-related data where applicable.

How we use your information

- To respond to enquiries and provide requested information.
- To discuss our services and manage potential client relationships.
- To operate, maintain and improve the website.
- To keep records of communications and protect the business from misuse or fraud.
- To comply with legal, regulatory or tax-related obligations.

Sharing data

We may share data with trusted service providers who support our website, email, analytics, administration or security systems. We may also disclose information where required by law or to protect our legal rights. We do not sell personal data.

Retention

We keep personal data only for as long as reasonably necessary for the purpose collected, including follow-up on enquiries, record keeping, legal compliance and dispute management.

Your rights

- You may ask for access to your personal data.
- You may ask us to correct inaccurate information.
- You may ask us to delete data where we no longer need it.
- You may object to certain processing or ask us to restrict it.

For privacy questions or requests, contact: info@prestigescaling.com

Lawful basis

We process personal data where it is necessary to respond to enquiries, take steps before entering into a contract, pursue legitimate business interests such as operating and securing the website, or comply with legal obligations.

Complaints

If you have a privacy concern, please contact us first at info@prestigescaling.com. You also have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) if you believe your data has been handled unlawfully.
